Index

Nightlife and Crime is a collection of scholarly reports on crime and disorder in the Night Time Economies (NTEs) of 17 countries. This innovative volume provides an outward looking and international perspective on the area in an accessible and thought-provoking style. The issues raised in Nightlife and Crime go to the heart of contemporary debates on 'binge-drinking' and anti-social behaviour which have been hotly debated in Britain following the implementation of the Licensing Act 2003 and the Violent Crime Reduction Act 2006. Such themes are also at the forefront of public policy discourse and media interest in other countries such as Australia and Spain.

Invaluable for:

- Academics
- Undergraduate/ postgraduate students in Criminology, Socio-legal studies, Sociology and Social psychology
- Criminal justice professionals including the police, local government, policy-makers and the Home Office

Nightlife and Crime

Social Order and Governance in International Perspective

Edited by Phil Hadfield, Senior Research Fellow, Centre for Criminal Justice Studies, University of Leeds

- The only title of its kind to take an outward-looking and international perspective - stimulates comparative thinking in this growing area of research
- International contributions from world-renowned experts dealing with nightlife and crime in the UK, USA, Canada, Australia, South Africa, Spain and Hong Kong amongst others
- Features in-depth case studies from a cross-section of regions in America
- Combines scholarly research and discussion of police practice - provides an accessible and illuminating resource for knowledge transfer between academics and criminal justice professionals

Bar Wars, Dr Hadfield's previous book on the Night-time economy was awarded the Socio-Legal Studies Association Early Career Book Prize 2007. He is also co-author of the seminal study of the night-time economy, Bouncers (OUP, 2003)
